The Challenge

In today's world, avoiding litigation and media exposure in the current political and social climate is becoming increasingly difficult – especially when it comes to harassment in the workplace. Educating your workforce in a meaningful way is difficult to achieve when employees don't find training courses engaging, useful or relevant. And when incidents do occur, collecting timely and accurate information is crucial to the outcome and employee morale. Delayed, inaccurate or biased investigations are no longer meeting the minimum requirements.

The Solution

Investing in legally vetted training from NAVEXEngage can help put your mind at ease. An educated workforce is the first step in avoiding this unwanted exposure. Paired with EthicsPoint, our hotline and incident management system, your organization will be prepared to inform your employee base on what wrongdoing looks like, and offer the appropriate reporting channels to prevent and resolve incidents. Together, educated employees and a strong speak-up culture reinforced with a comprehensive reporting system clearly shows your people know where the organization stands on workplace harassment.
