EthicsPoint[®]: Capture More Reports and Do More with Your Data

A high-functioning hotline and incident management program is the cornerstone of confident risk management. There's no better source of unfiltered, on-the-ground information than the data captured through a healthy speak-up program.

Are you getting as much out of your system as you could? Our research shows organizations that track reports from all sources—not just web and hotline—receive nearly twice as many reports. Increased report volume can create its own challenges, which makes an efficient, intelligent solution for tracking, analyzing, and reporting on that data even more valuable. NAVEX has created a promotional package to help organizations enhance their incident management program to better harness the wealth of information crucial to the risk and compliance function.
